User Case Diagram:

-The diagram shows the relations between actors (Users and developer) and different use cases.

-As we see that developer push notifications to users.

-User to attend an event -> have a look on time and description.

-User to participate in tournaments -> have a look on time and description.

-User search on website about clubs, then search about clubs in specific location, then choose sport want to know more about so have a look on time and description.

-As we can see (time and description use case) is included from many basic use cases.

-When user wants to leave feedback, it must be reviewed by developer and then give the approval and display it on website.

Deportes website

push notifications

attend event «include» show time and description

«include»

participate in Tournaments

«include»

show specific sport

show clubs in Egypt «extend»

User

show clubs in specific location

leave feedback

Display feedback

«extend» review feedback

Developer