Sequence Diagram:

-Sequence diagram shows to us a sequence between some behaviors that happen between different actors (users, website and developer).

-When user request to find clubs, website respond and shows them.

- When user request to know about sports, website show all details.

-When user wants to leave feedback at the same time server send a notification to developer to review it.

-Developer review it and give approval then display the feedback of user.

-Developer push notification to users.

-User request to show events, then website show all details

-User join the event.